Attack Upon Gorizia Was Carefully Planned and Executed

COUNTER ATTACKS FAIL

Troops of Duke Acosta Showed Great Courage in Assaulting Difficult Positions and Gorizia Was Captured With Generous Sacrifice By Infantry—Securely Held By Victors

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, Aug. 9, Via Paris, Aug. 10.—The operations which led up to the capture of Gorizia by the Italians are described in the following official narrative given out here tonight:
"The attack began on August 4, in the Montefalco section, against Hills 85 and 121, east of Rocca. We stormed a very powerful enemy works there taking 113 prisoners, but the adversary had placed in abandoned trenches quantities of bombs which exploded, giving off clouds of poisonous gas just as our troops entered the captured line. Heavy masses of the enemy then made counter attacks and our troops stupefied or asphyxiated by the gas were forced to fall back to their own trenches.
"On August 5, the artillery sounded the enemy's whole front with the object of distracting his attention and fixing the range accurately. On the morning of August 6, our batteries opened fire simultaneously on the rock barrier which from Sabotino to Cavarlo defends the Isonzo and Gorizia to the west, and against Monte San Michele which forms the northern edge of the Gorizian range. The artillery action of the day, long and carefully worked out reported a perfect example of concentrated fire against fortified lines.
"Thanks to our aviators and to the observations of battery position, the enemy had been all marked off clearly on target maps and ranges for the extension and lengthening of fire and had been calculated with the greatest nicety. Thus at the appointed time a veritable tempest of shells fell in a wholly unexpected manner on the positions of the enemy, demolishing everything systematically.
"Infantry communications between the columns then advanced with customary dash, well supported by a curtain of fire of our artillery and carried the entire front which forms the base of the Gorizian bridgehead. On the heights which cover the city to the west they stormed the defense of Olavina and on the summit of Hill 206, which commanded Graffenburg. They attacked on the right bank of the river as far as St. Andrews. On the southern borders of the Isonzo, Italian troops captured the very strong lines on the summit of San Michele, and the entrenchments running in the San Martino zone. Finally in the Montefalco sector the battalion of Bersaglieri cyclists from the Third and Eleventh regiments after a desperate struggle, stormed all the defenses on Hill 85 and held out there against violent concentrated artillery fire, repulsing furious counter attacks by Austrian infantry.
"It now remained to take the imposing barrier formed by the heights immediately to the west of the city. The battle ebbed and flowed incessantly for three days. The ground was fortified strongly.
"Inch by inch, and at the cost of generous sacrifices, our infantry, with the admirable cooperation of our artillery, conquered first the crest, and then the southeastern slopes of the heights and stormed innumerable trenches, gradually driving the defenders before them, notwithstanding repeated counter-attacks. As a result of all these continuous efforts, all the heights on the right bank of the Isonzo forming the bridgehead of Gorizia and Monte San Michele on the left bank, were captured and are securely held by the Italians. This uninterrupted three days covers with glory the troops of the Third army, commanded by the Duke of Acosta."
Notwithstanding the desperate fighting around Gorizia the city itself was not burned by the Austrians or destroyed by the artillery fire nor were inhabitants injured, these to the number of 20,000 having previously evacuated the city.
It was the desire of the Italian commander, Gen. Cadorna to save Gorizia from destruction by the retreating Austrians and to that end he employed strategy. When the Duke of Acosta commander of the third army who was present during the three days of fighting entered the city Gorizia was found to be deserted, save by great numbers of wounded and dying Austrians.
The Duke was accompanied by his cousin, the King.

GIRL DRIVES AUTO ACROSS CONTINENT

Miss Amanda Preuss, a member of the Sacramento (Cal.) Y. W. C. A., believes so firmly in the value of automobile touring to the health that she has undertaken a tour from San Francisco to New York, most of which will be made along the Lincoln highway. Miss Preuss hopes to show the ease and safety of transcontinental touring and to stir the interest of more women motorists in cross country travel.

Gorizia was among the most sanguinary episodes of the war. Before this encounter the bridge had been named Death Pass.

PURSUIT CONTINUES.

Paris, Aug. 10, 9:20 a. m.—A Havas dispatch from Rome says that the Duke of Acosta's army, having passed the left bank of the Isonzo, continues the pursuit of the Austrians and that heavy losses, particularly in respect of prisoners are being inflicted on the Austrians.

Eight Bitten By Dog With Rabies, Five Were Children

Zanesville, Aug. 9.—A pet fox terrier dog, which bit eight people here Sunday, had rabies, according to a report yesterday from the state board of health, which examined the animal's head. Six of the victims are children under five years of age. The other two are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Berkshire, owners of the dog. Constance Culbertson, aged five, daughter of Dr. L. R. Culbertson, was badly lacerated about the face. The other children were bitten on the legs and arms. All of them will take Pasteur treatment.

Three Candidates Have Only Four Legs Between Them

Zanesville, Aug. 10.—The three Republican candidates for county commissioners, named at Tuesday's primary, have a total of but four legs. Samuel Whyde and Eli Derry, both farmers, have wooden legs. Both lost them in accidents on their farms several years ago.

FAMILY OF FIVE ESCAPE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Toledo, Aug. 10.—When an oil lamp exploded early this morning, Andrew Waljeik and five members of his family jumped from their beds and fled through smoke and flames. Their home was destroyed. Lieut. Fred Schrein, of the fire department, suffered a broken leg and three broken ribs when a chimney fell.

40,000 People Expected By Picnic Committee; Program Gives Rare Entertainment

Not "two souls with but a single thought" but about 40,000 with but one big idea today, and that is to help swell the crowd at Moundbuilders' Park, where the big Farmers and Merchants picnic is being held. It is estimated by those in charge that about 40,000 people will visit the grounds during the day, as at 9:30 o'clock this morning over 7,000 had passed through the gates. It is a great get-together event, for the young and old, and the manner of getting to the park, includes every known vehicle. The big farm wagon with seven occupants, neatly and compactly arranged on the floor of the wagon, with well filled baskets, is just as big a part of the merry throng as the seven-passenger touring car. They are coming afoot and on street cars, and the motorcycles and bicycles nose out the machines. Every effort has been made to care for the comfort of those attending. The G. A. R. members were taken to the grounds this morning and a special committee was arranged to care for them and entertain them at dinner. Ten thousand gallons of coffee have been prepared and there will be about 9,000 gallons of lemonade. These will be distributed to the crowd free. Tents have been erected for rest rooms and information bureaus where all can learn about the events on the program.

Following the big parade about 1:30 o'clock, Mr. Frank L. Beggs, president of the Chamber of Commerce will give a short address of welcome and will be followed by the speaker of the afternoon, Judge Nichols of Coshocton.

One of the big features will be the country store for which 5,000 packages have been made up to be sold at 10 cents each. These packages include merchandise valued from 10 cents to $6.00.

The program for the day includes every known athletic sport, with a racing program. The Buckeye band will furnish music throughout the day and there should not be a dull moment for any one.

At 10:30 o'clock, Company B, Old Guard, marched onto the picnic grounds proudly led by Mr. Walter Sperry, member of the firm of Sperry & Harris. Mr. Sperry was imbued with the spirit of '76, and responded graciously to the cheers of those in the stands who have dealt with intemperate paralytic and may be able to suggest some means of curbing the epidemic.

Has Lead of 2,000 in Contest For State Nomination

OTHER CONTESTS DEVELOP DURING COUNT

May Need Official Figures to Pick Winner

REPUBLICAN VOTE HEAVY

Tracy and Adams in Close Race For Republican Nomination For State Auditor and For Democratic Nomination For Attorney General—Some Contests For Other State Positions

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, August 10.—Only four contests of importance seemed in doubt today as the Ohio state board of elections began the official compilation of returns from Tuesday's primaries—a task which is expected to require from two to four days for completion. Probably only the official tabulation will settle the Republican contest for the nomination for state auditor closely fought by Jos. T. Tracy and Hayes M. Adams. Nomination of two supreme court judges on the Republican ticket and of candidates for attorney general and lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket were the other important contests, official figures on which were awaited with anxiety.

Unofficial figures from 61 out of the 88 counties in the state give Adams 36,353 votes for the Republican nomination for auditor and Tracy 31,639. For Republican supreme court judges the same counties give James Joyce 62,128; Augustus N. Summers, 58,842; Judge Cyrus Newby 56,742; Judge Willis Vickery, 50,311; and Jos. C. Obermeyer, 29,882, indicating the nomination of Joyce and Summers.

For the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor the 61 counties gave Earl D. Bloom, 50,128, and Senator Edward J. Hopple, 34,990. Probably only the official count can settle whether the Democratic nomination for attorney general goes to Joseph McGhee of Columbus or to Scott Stahl of Port Clinton.

Unofficial computations indicate that the total Republican vote will exceed 200,000 and that the Democrat total may not be more than 150,000.

On the unofficial figures from 61 counties William D. Fulton had a lead of nearly 2000 votes over Thornton R. Snyder for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state. These counties unofficially gave Fulton 27,166 and Snyder 25,364.

15 AIR BATTLES ON SOMME FRONT; FRENCH ADVANCE

Paris, Aug. 10.—Further progress for the French troops north of Hemwood in the Somme sector is announced in an official statement issued by the French war office today.

"Rain and mist have impeded the operations north of the Somme. South of the river a German reconnaissance using liquid fire was dispersed by the French infantry fire, west of Verdunovillers.

"Only intermittent cannonading in the neighborhood of Fleury, Vaux and Chaptre is reported from the Verdun sector.

"Fifteen battles in the air took place yesterday on the Somme front. One German aeroplane is reported to have been destroyed and two forced to descend inside the French lines. French machines dropped 413 bombs on various railroad stations."

Congress to Quit September First According to Plan

Washington, Aug. 10.—September first is the latest date now suggested by senate leaders for adjournment of congress.

The plan, as formulated in conferences yesterday, provides that no important legislation be considered at the present session except the shipping, revenue, employers' liability and supply bills and conference reports, with a view to adjournment by the end of this month. It would eliminate the corrupt practices bill and the bill to enlarge the interstate commerce commission.

Public Health Board Asks Help to Fight Plague

Washington, Aug. 10.—The public health service aroused over the inability to check the infantile paralysis in New York, has called a meeting of state health authorities to be held here next Thursday, August 17. Plans will be developed to combat the spread of the disease. The health service also seeks the experience of those in the states who have dealt with infantile paralysis and may be able to suggest some means of curbing the epidemic.

FEARFUL OF PARALYSIS PLAGUE, N. Y. CHILDREN CROWD PARKS

Standing in line at a park fountain. The parks and other spots of green throughout New York city are crowded with children of all ages seeking relief from the oppressive heat and fleeing the danger of infantile paralysis that lurks in narrow, dirty streets and ill-kept tenements. The great heat is the plague's ally. Not until the autumn brings cooler weather is there much hope of a decline in the epidemic.

FULTON LEADS IN RACE FOR SECRETARY STATE

Returns from 61 of the 88 counties of Ohio show that William D. Fulton, Newark lawyer, and former Licking county representative, is leading Snyder of Cincinnati for the Democratic nomination of secretary of state by a margin of 2,000 votes. As the returns from the city of Cincinnati and other centers of population where Snyder's strength was supposed to be already in and as Fulton's strength was believed to lie in the rural districts the outlook for the Newark man's nomination is bright. Mr. Fulton carried his home county by a splendid vote.

The announcement of his lead was a surprise to Mr. Fulton who had believed from the early returns that Mr. Snyder's nomination was assured. While the matter is not yet settled it is believed that Fulton will be on the state ticket.

It has been a long time since a Licking county man has had a place on a state ticket. A quarter of a century ago or longer Capt. William C. Lyon, editor of The Newark American was nominated by the Ohio Republicans for lieutenant governor and was elected.

Correction of Count Puts Miller Out of Race; Official Figures Announced Today

The official count of Tuesday's primaries will have been completed by the members of the local election board some time this afternoon.

The official figures for the Democratic state and county ticket are given below together with a part of the state Republican ticket.

A regrettable error in totaling yesterday's returns made it appear as if George L. Miller of this city had been nominated for the office of county recorder when in fact it should have been Frank B. Dudgeon, the well known secretary of the county agricultural society. The official figures show the latter's nomination over the next highest candidate, William A. Fleming, by a plurality of 154 votes.

Following are the figures:

DEMOCRATIC.
Governor. James M. Cox 2900, J. C. Martin 489, A. P. Sandies 597.
Lieutenant Governor. E. D. Bloom 1561, E. J. Hopple 668, D. L. Suter 743, G. N. Tool 391.

National Guard Regiments Are Ordered to Flood Zone to Assist in Caring For Homeless and Recovering Bodies—Two Weeks Before Travel Can Be Resumed On C. & O. Railroad

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Charleston, W. Va., August 10.—Twenty-three bodies have been recovered from the debris carried down by the flood which swept the Cabin Creek valley near here yesterday. Rescue parties have penetrated some distance above Cabin Creek Junction, and meagre reports brought back by couriers and from the railroads indicate that the loss of life has been heavy although no accurate estimate can be made.

Persons driven from their homes to the mountains are returning to find whole villages of mining cabins swept away, while distress and suffering is seen on every hand.

Two companies of the second West Virginia infantry left Camp Kanawha by trolley this morning, and were taken to Cabin Creek Junction with orders to penetrate the valley and extend relief to all who needed it. They carried provisions and tents.

A special train is being made up here on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad and will go as far as the last repaired tracks will permit. From the point numbers of men provided with provisions will seek out the spots where destitute persons are stranded. It is expected that they will be able to go the entire length of the valley and penetrate adjoining valleys, also hard hit before tomorrow.

The commander of the military has been ordered to detail men to guard property and restore order leaving the greater part of the relief work to the many parties which will be in the valley before afternoon.

So great has been the loss that coal companies with mines in the valley estimate that many thousands of dollars will be needed to feed and clothe the helpless miners and their families as scores of them have lost all their possessions.

Rescue parties worked desperately today in an effort to make their way up the Cabin Creek and Coal River valleys which for twenty miles southward from the Kanawha river were devastated by a cloudburst which left in its wake a death toll estimated at more than 100 persons and property loss of at least $2,000,000. Because of the topography of the country, state authorities here expressed the belief that it would be several days before the full extent of the flood could be ascertained.

At least eight villages and mining settlements in the district were either wholly or partially destroyed while many others felt the effects of the storm more or less. Those practically destroyed or badly damaged are Acme, Ronda, Dry Branch, Kayford, Miami, Sharon and Eskdale. Between Acme and Kayford sixty persons are reported to have been drowned.

Two companies of the second regiment West Virginia national guard entrained for the flood zone today with tents, provisions, and medical supplies. Major William Wallace of the United States army will be in charge of the relief expedition which will proceed by rail as far as possible and then march to all points devastated by the flood.

Local officials of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad today declared that it would be at least two weeks before travel could be resumed in the Cabin Creek valley.

They also said that the company's yards at Kayford had been destroyed and will have to be rebuilt. Reports said that portions of the track of the Virginian railroad between Robson and Deepwater had been washed out and that service on the road had been temporarily suspended.

DAYTON SOLDIER KILLS HIMSELF AT SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Aug. 10.—S. C. Conover of Dayton, O., clerk in the office of Major General Frederick Funston, was found dead in a room of a local hotel here today. A pistol with one discharged cartridge was found lying on the floor near the body. The bullet had penetrated the right temple.

A typewritten note, addressed to "Dear Mother and Dad," seemed to indicate domestic trouble as the cause of the act. In the army Conover was a private in Battery B, Third Cavalry. He also had served in the navy. He was 30 years old.

DR. O. C. HAGMEIER, ALTHOUGH ONE OF THE NEWER OF Newark's business men, is fast becoming known to the people of this city, and is associated with his brother, George J. Hagmeier, in the proprietorship of the Pittsburgh Cut Rate Grocery in the Knights of Pythias building in East Main street. The Hagmeier brothers' grocery is one of the most attractive in appearance in the city, and the grocery carries a complete stock of the best of staple groceries. Dr. Hagmeier is a Doctor of Medicine, although he is not now actively engaged in the practice of his profession. After graduating from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Baltimore, he immediately located in Pittsburgh, where he practiced until the spring of 1915, when his health failed, and forced him to leave off his practice in that city. Dr. Hagmeier, in hope of regaining health, then located in the Allegheny mountains near Reading, Pa., where he practiced among residents of the rural districts until last March, when he came to Newark to join his brother in the firm which he is now a member. Although his health forced him to abandon his chosen profession, Dr. Hagmeier still retains a keen interest in medicine and surgery. While practicing, he specialized in children's cases. He is a Mason, a member of Phi Beta Pi, medical fraternity, and a member of the Allegheny Medical, the Pennsylvania Medical, and the American Medical societies.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a class of Salts before breakfast if your back hurts or bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

MORE GOODIES FOR THE KIDS ON PICNIC DAY

The three hundred tickets have been exhausted for the kiddies picnic and the committee is only sorry that it cannot give out double that amount. Probation Officer John Dwyer has applications for over the number agreed upon and will give out tickets to the first three hundred who applied.

It's going to be a gala day for the little ones and they will have the time of their lives. One little girl residing on Hudson avenue whose father owns a big touring car and who always takes his family on a country tour on the Thursday afternoon holidays said yesterday: "Papa, I want you to take a big load of those little boys and girls out to the picnic, they never get to take an auto ride and I know they'll enjoy it; I'll come up and watch them start and you can take me some other time."

Surely that little girl showed an unselfish spirit. Now who will be the next to offer their car for the day. Just call up Chairman J. T. Lewis of the picnic committee and he will take your name and give the required instructions. Roy L. Patton, of Johnstown rendered his car yesterday. He's going to get up early in the morning and drive through so as to be in Newark at 8:30, the time the cars are desired.

The kiddies are going to have an additional treat of oranges. "Buster" Bowman says he's strong for the kiddies and so he and his partner in the Service Taxi line, George Pieri, donated a case of 300 oranges. They wanted to send their taxi cabs out but it would interfere with their business so they decided on the oranges.

Members of the Newark Auto club intending to donate their cars for the day will please notify Chairman Lewis. They will have the time of their lives helping to show the youngsters a good time.

HOME FOR GIRLS STARTED WITH $5; 500 CARED FOR

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 10.—An institution in this city that receives much praise for its work is the Friends Rescue Home where unfortunate girls are cared for. Here their babies are looked after and given a temporary home and the mothers are housed until they can obtain honest employment or a good home. The girls are taught cooking, sewing and other domestic arts, which they find of great advantage after leaving the home.

Through the training provided at this institution seventy-five per cent of the girls received "turn out well," according to Miss Evangeline Reams, in charge of the home.

The home was founded eleven years ago on a capital of five dollars. Miss Reams rented a house in Harris avenue and opened her doors to girls who had no other place to go. Last January, with the aid of public contributions, it was possible to move to more commodious quarters. These now are again outgrown and Miss Reams is trying to obtain funds with which to enlarge the building.

A total of 499 girls have been cared for at the home since its foundation. Ninety girls were received last year, 49 babies being brought in to the world. Since January 7, 1916, 47 girls have been received, and the capacity number—19—is now being cared for. An average of four applications for admission are received every week.

WOODEN MULE IS ONLY PACK ANIMAL IN CAMP WILLIS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Camp Willis, Columbus, Aug. 10.—A wooden "mule" is the nearest approach to the famous old army pack animal to be found on the reservation here. There is not a live mule in the place but the wooden one is an important institution.

Inasmuch as the animals are used to carry machine guns when the army is on the march and yet are not of sufficient use in the camp here to be worth their board, the Ohio machine gun companies have fixed up the substitute of wood to be used in practicing strapping a gun outfit on mule back.

With her ungraceful barrel-like body and her four wooden legs Maude stands stolidly while the gun company straps on the outfit, and with wooden indifference permits herself to be wobbled about roughly so that the efficiency of the cinching may be tested.

BOYS ENJOYED FINE AUTO TRIP TO MANY PLACES

Searl Nethers, one of the popular clerks at the City Drug store, and Edgar Albright, expert linotype operator in the Advocate composing rooms, have returned from a fine auto trip of a thousand miles to Coshocton, New Comerstown, New Philadelphia, Canal Dover, Canton, Steubenville, Pitsburgh, Carnegie, Canonsburg and Washington, Pa., and southern New York State. The autoists rode day and night, found the roads in fine condition and formed many acquaintances, especially among the fair sex. The boys had their bathing suits along and both being splendid swimmers and good divers gave exhibitions of their skill along the line at the different summer resorts at which they stopped. They are now receiving souvenir post cards from a number of the cities which they visited and if nothing happens to prevent another auto trip will be made over the same route before the snow flies.

COLUMBUS OFFERS BIG RACE CARD

GRAND CIRCUIT HORSES WILL ENTERTAIN TIME DEVOTED TO NEXT WEEK.

Several Stake Races With Big Purse Are Offered in Various Events. Stakes Will Be There.

Columbus, O., Aug. 16.—Tabulation of entries has progressed far enough to make possible the pleasing announcement that grand circuit races next week will go according to the original program with the best horses in training performing in the various events. Official lists will come out late in the week and no doubt will be published complete in Columbus Sunday papers. Here's a tip on the race-for-all race, in which two-minute speed has been made at the Cleveland, Detroit and Kalamazoo meetings. Single G, winner of all three of these races, is nominated for the Columbus event and so is Napoleon Direct. Another noted nominee is Directum 1, that two years ago whipped William over the Columbus track in 1:58 and 2:00. He has not been in a race this season but Tommy Murphy has stopped him a two-minute trial. Russell Boy, defeated three times this year by Single G, started in the 2:05 Columbus race next Monday.

Mabel Trask, the year's star trotter, is a candidate for the Athletic Club stake that will top the program of Thursday, August 17. One of the new starters against her no doubt will be Donna Clay, an Ohio-owned mare with which Charley Valentine won a big race at Detroit two weeks ago. Possibly promulgation of the complete program for the entire meeting may be in order at this time. It is as follows:

Monday, August 14.

Mills Restaurant sweepstakes, 2-year-old trotters, 2 to 3, $700 added.

2:05 pace, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

2:18 trot, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

2:15 pace, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

Tuesday, August 15.

Magley Restaurant sweepstakes, 2-year-old trotters, 2 in 3, $500 added.

Cleic Center stake, 2:12 pacers, 3 in 5 Purse $2000.

2:09 trot, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

2:13 trot, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

Wednesday, August 16.

Devereux stake, 2:15 trotters, three heats. Purse $2000.

Free-for-all pace, 2 in 3 Purse $1000.

2:09 pace, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

2:11 trot, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

Thursday, August 17.

Athletic Club stake, 2:05 trotters, 3 in 5. Purse $5000.

ARTHUR DEMING, "The Emperor."

With Vogel's Minstrels at Auditorium Saturday, Matinee and Night.

2:07 pace, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.
Buckeye Lake Yacht Club stake, 2:12 trotters. Purse $3000.
2:18 pace, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.
Friday, August 18.
2:08 trot, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.
2:12 pace, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.
2:15 trot, 3 in 5. Purse $1000.

Warming the Eggs.

There was once an old lady in Scotland who kept a few hens. As she lived close to the house in which a church minister lived he asked her to send him two new laid eggs every morning, and he would pay her for them.

So the old lady sent her girl to the minister's house every morning with two eggs, and the minister's servant always thought the eggs were newly laid because they felt quite warm, as if they had just been taken from the hen's nest.

But one day the eggs were cold, so the servant asked: "Are the eggs fresh today, Janey? They do not seem warm."

The simple girl looked at the maid and then said, "Oh, aye, they're quite fresh, only my mother could not get the cat to sit on them this morning, as it ran away."

PITTSBURGH RACING CARD FEW ENTRIES

FIVE HORSES START IN LARGEST FIELD, THE 2:04 TROTTING RACE.

Geers Drives Bonington to Victory. Miss Harris M Wins William Stake Event—Today's Program.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 16.—Re-arrangement of the cards for the Grand Circuit race meeting now being held here, was announced today. This was made necessary owing to the postponement of the local opening for two days because of rain.

The Furniture Manufacturers $5000 stake, originally scheduled for today, and the free-for-all race, in which some of the fastest horses in the light harvest world are entered, and which was to have been raced tomorrow, have been postponed until Saturday. The Grand Rapids Railway $2000 purse, scheduled for last Tuesday, the Comstock Stake for 2:12 pacers, $2000 purse, and the 3-year-old Matron Stake, valued at $4000, will be the feature events tomorrow.

The principal event under the new arrangement for today was the 2:10 trot for a $1000 purse in which Director Todd, Isperanza, and Guy Nella were among the starters. The card also included a 3-year-old trot, the 2:17 class trot, and the 2:10 pace. The purse in each was $1000. The track was fast.

Miss Miss Harris M won the William $2000 Stake, the feature event yesterday. After rain had prevented a start on the two preceding days, she took the race in straight heats, Billy Dale and The Savoy giving little opposition. "Pop" Geers brought Bonington in in the next heat Mithful again took the lead and retained it until the final stretch, when Geers shoved Bonington into first place and won by about a head. The veteran driver also took the third heat in commanding fashion, which gave him the race.

Rose Magee won the Matron Stake for foals of 1912 in one heat. Peter Look, the favorite, and Miss Jennine Castle being distanced. Harvest Gale easily took the Northrup Sweepstakes for 2-year-old trotters from Kelley De Forest.

Despite the heavy rains the track was in fair condition. Summaries:

FUNNY SIGNAL SERVICE.
How Flockton, the Actor, Saved a Lot of Time and Labor.

Once on a time "Flock" (C. P. Flockton of the old Lyceum) lived in a flat in New York with young Alexander Salvini. The flat was at the top of a building. In the street opposite were a number of small shops—a butcher, a baker, a candlestick maker, and so on. I was invited to dine there. I climbed up the stairs, and while waiting for some one to answer the bell I had time to observe this curious list on the outside of the door:

Chops—one boot.
Steak—two boots.
Potatoes—cabbagecoat.
Cabbage—coat.
Spinach—one pair of trousers.
Coal—white shirt.
Wood—blue shirt.
Flour—socks.

Before I could read more Flock himself opened the door.

"What do you have your wash list on the outside of the door for?" said I.

"That isn't a wash list," cried Flock; "that's the signal service. You shall see. You are before the dinner time. I'm only just in, and I cook the dinner myself. Come!"

Flock went to the window, blew a shrill whistle, once, twice, thrice. "Look out at the other window," cried Flock. "You see those fellows come out of the shops? Now keep your eyes open!"

He took two old boots and put them on the window sill. A man at the butcher shop opposite who was looking our way put a whistle to his lips and blew a blast. "Good," said Flock.

"Again!" He took a red waistcoat and waved it in the wind three times. "Potatoes for three," said he. The man at the grocer's shop replied with a whistle.

"Shall it be cabbage or spinach?" said Flock.

"Cabbage," said I.

"Right you are!" A coat was thrown in the air. Came the response instant from below. Some socks, a pair of trousers and innumerable garments carried the message to the waiting trades folk. Shortly a boy arrived with a basketful of food.

"You see, old man," said Flock, "it saves a lot of trouble. I don't have to go down; they don't have to come up; one boy can do all the work. My own idea. Good, isn't it?" From "My Remembrances" by E. H. Sothers, in Scribner's.

Daugherty Defeated.

Credit for the nomination of Myron T. Herrick over Harry M.
Daugherty is given by Daugherty's friends to the free use of money in behalf of the winner, and the stimulation in the late days of the campaign in the endorsement given Herrick in Hughes' speech of acceptance.
In this latter aid is seen the fine work of James R. Garfield, former Progressive, who was placed on the Republican executive committee at the demand of the presidential candidate.

In days gone by, and particularly in 1912, when Daugherty spent his time and money keeping the Republican party intact as an organization,
he found Garfield one of those whom he had to fight bitterly. Garfield being bent on destruction in Roosevelt's wake. The elevation of Garfield at this time, and the ability with which he was able to turn the party's leader's guns against one who had been regular is viewed with alarm by those who remained true to the Old Guard. Outside of Ohio
the interference in the Ohio primary and the domination by the Progressive leader has created unrest. The feeling is growing that Mr. Hughes is under the absolute sway of Theodore Roosevelt and is in every action seeking to win his approval. Ere long the leaders may be borrowing Uncle Joe's phrase: "Sometimes it is better to lose than to win." The American Tribune of this city is not overjoyed at the nomination of Mr.
Herrick. It believed that Mr.
Daugherty was entitled to the nomination and supported his candidacy vigorously.

Long Terms of Employment.

Announcement has been made within a few days by Swift and Company at Chicago, that a fund of $2-000,000 has been accumulated to start a system of pensions for employees. In order to secure the benefits of the same, a person must, however, have been employed continuously for 25 years by this firm.

Before the days of great corporations and enormous factories, 25 years terms of employment were not uncommon. A personal relation grew up between employer and employed.
Old employees felt concern for the success of the firm they worked for.

Employers recognized the value of judgment and experience. Even if an elderly man had lost something of his early energy, they considered this

War Against Illiteracy.

Nearly every state has some peculiar illiteracy problem of its own.
Many of the older sections priding themselves on pure native stock are now overrun with non-English speaking immigrants. The South has its negroes and mountain whites.

North Carolina has been doing particularly good work the past year in 638 "moonlight schools" conducted in 50 counties. It has set a good example. Other states are also active. The industrial cities have long had their night schools. But the volume of illiteracy is not yet appreciably reduced.

In times of world speaking, the peril
of a large non-English speaking population is obvious. The man who gets his notions from his foreign language paper, and orators of his own alien race, is not apt to acquire the American viewpoint.

Public and private agencies in the larger cities have been fairly diligent in efforts to reach these people. It is in the country that illiteracy flourishes. The local community is usually too poor to establish night schools. The state throws off responsibility after school age has passed.

The most hopeless cases are not the immigrants. These are people of initiative and stamina, and their children at least will read and write our tongue. The discouraging cases are decadent native stock, in rural communities with incomplete school facilities. These hand down a tradition of shiftless failure and incompetence. The children are more interested in breaking the game laws
than in learning arithmetic.

State and local community should combine to provide night schools.
But these are of little value unless these grown-up children are ambitious to learn. Every employer of labor should impress the idea on his ignorant help that America is no place for the man who can't read and write. He will get the worst of every bargain, the butt end of every log, and no one will be loyal to his interest.

The New York newspapers continue to issue reassuring statements
about the infant paralysis epidemic,
in which they derive great comfort from the fact that the cases only increased 50 per cent when they might have doubled.

After issuing sad and gloomy predictions about the crops, the stock brokers joyfully plan what to do with the millions they will get by cornering the market and selling stocks short.

Confidence is felt that the Commission on the Mexican border problems will be highly useful in postponing the time when this government will have to do something.

Both candidates for president are accused of being highbrows, but great things could be accomplished by using slang freely, talking ungrammatically, and wearing overalls.

It has now been clearly demonstrated that the federalized militia would be able to get to the scene of hostilities within a few months after peace was declared.

Political clubs are now being formed all over the country by patriot anxious to serve their Fatherland in public office.

It is strange that so many men
fail to succeed as baseball umpires,
when all they have to do is to favor
the home team.

Hughes On Experience.

(Philadelphia Record.)
We are very much impressed by the argument of Mr. Hughes in favor of retaining experienced men in office. We see many indications that the country also is pretty well convinced that Mr. Hughes is right in this, and that the present is the most opportune moment for putting his teachings into practice.

Mr. Hughes thinks that a Republican who has held office four years
has become a specialist, or an expert in the performance of his duties, and ought not to be displaced. But we presume that the capacity of a Democrat to learn is equal to that of a Republican, and that the entire hierarchy of Democratic officials, from President down, is now approaching that stage of professional education at which it would be a genuine crime against the country to deprive it of their services.

What folly it would be to discharge Woodrow Wilson, who has had a greater amount of experience in the Presidency than any of his predecessors, and put in his place a man who never was President, and wasn't a very good governor, and was thankful to get out of that office into a tranquil life job on the Supreme court. Mr. Wilson has been President at the most critical period
in the history of the country since Washington, excepting only the civil war. He is a scholar, a writer of authority on politics and Constitutional Government and the work of Congress, and to his scholastic study of these problems he has now added
the unlimited amount of experience
which nearly four years in the White House has given him.

If Mr. Hughes should be elected he would not only cut the learned and experienced incumbent of the Presidency, but he would turn all the Democratic Ambassadors and Ministers and Consuls, and Postmasters and Collectors, out of the service and replace them with Republicans who would know nothing whatever about their duties. Mr. Hughes convinces us that this would be a great calamity. The present officials have been in office nearly four years. They have become experts, according to Mr. Hughes. They ought to be regarded with veneration. Mr. Hughes has no set of Republicans with greater, or even with equal experience, and if he will only read his Detroit speech he will realize how shocking it would be to deprive the country of all these experienced functionaries and install in their places a lot of men who know nothing of their duties and whose only claim to appointment is that they helped elect Mr. Hughes.

The country is going to adopt the principle Mr. Hughes enunciated at Detroit and apply it throughout the service, beginning with the President.
It is going to hold fast to an experienced man, who has gone creditably through ordeals such as no previous President was ever subjected to,
and will not put into the Presidency a green man whose chatter
about the office is not making a favorable impression.

An Interview With Joffre.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)
General Joffre received a number of American correspondents at his headquarters in France the other day and permitted himself the luxury of a few remarks for publication.
He said the allies have their enemies in the jaws of a vise which will gradually be closed until the Germans finally are crushed. He continued: "The complete unity of action of all the allies settled Germany's fate. Characteristic of our campaign is the constant pressure on all sides by the allies, who now have had time to form plans and to carry them out with perfect understanding of the necessities of the situation on all fronts."

This is not as boastful as some other remarks by leaders on both sides of the war. It strikes one as a true representation of the situation. General Joffre made no prediction as to when the end would come; he said that did not matter,
since there was no doubt how it would come. The wonder of the world has been that the end the French commander foresaw has been so long delayed; yet the news has carried the explanation and the words quoted above tell the tale.
Heretofore there has not been complete unity of action between the allies; they have not been carrying out plans with perfect understanding of the situation. That is changed, every day's events indicate.
How completely the crushing of Germany will be a boon to be seen, but that she will be beaten only the most sanguine advocates of her cause have doubted. Surrounded and cut off from the rest of the world, how could it be otherwise, once her foes become really unified and worked to a plan? Germany has performed prodigies on the battlefield but not until now has she faced the full strength and power of the allies.
General Joffre's confidence seems to be justified by the situation.

Why Labor is "Human."

(New York World.)
The discovery by Mr. Hughes at Detroit that the American workman is a human being would be more thrilling if the Democratic Sixty-third Congress had not seen and proclaimed the fact, with President Wilson's approval, on the 10th of October, 1914.

In the Clayton amendment of the Anti-Trust law, which became effective on that date, it is written that
"the labor of a human being is not a commodity or an article of commerce." This enactment was made necessary by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, of which Mr. Hughes was a member for six years. The law has been truly called labor's Bill of Rights.

When the great measure was passing, the party which Mr. Hughes represents did not in the main feel about it as he does now. Most of its representatives in Congress denounced the Democrats and President Wilson for "surrendering" to demagogues. On the passage of the bill in the Senate, only seven Republicans out of a membership of 45,
and in the House only 41 Republicans out of a membership of 127,
voted with the Democrats.

Some courage was needed to pass the Clayton bill. It corrected many a politician, gave new law to every lawyer and reversed the practices of the highest Courts. It may seem a little bold for the candidate of a reactionary party almost two years after the fact to admit condescendingly
that labor is human, but Mr.
Hughes has law to back him up, and the Democrats led by Woodrow Wilson, wrote the law.

Quaker Quips.

A man is all right in his way, if he isn't in the way of other people.

In common justice, neither Ameri-

in the matter of exposing the menace
to Niagara Falls that lies in the con-

cities and industries on both sides of the line for more power from the cataract. Unless the American and Canadian public can be aroused to a proper sense of the danger that now threatens one of the continent's greatest natural spectacles, the falls

that the men will be able to sustain themselves in their ice cave in Elephant Island until a third and stronger rescue ship shall arrive from Eng-

Did You Know

That the sugar obtained from the beet is inferior in sweetening power to cane sugar? In manufacturing beet sugar, the roots are thoroughly washed and cut up by corrugated knives. These slices, known as cosettes are dropped into large iron tanks. By a complicated system of pipes and valves water is conducted through these tanks in to which the sugar is diffused. When this "juice" is drawn from the tanks it is filtered and from two to three pounds of lime added for each 100 pounds of beet. Carbon dioxide is then forced through the liquid to precipitate the lime together with certain impurities, after the removal of which the operations of liming, car-bonizing and filtering are repeated.
If the final product is to be a white sugar, the juice is then bleached with sulphurous acid and again filtered. The subsequent treatment is similar to that employed in making cane sugar, boiling and skimming in copper pans. The beet is more precarious than the cane, both in the production per acre and the sugar per ton.

Gasoline Causes Twenty Fires Daily and Many Deaths

By using gasoline for cleansing fabrics Americans fire more than 20 houses for every day of the year, says a bulletin issued by State Fire Marshal Buckley.

Still worse, the careless handling of gasoline burns to death more than 20 persons each week in the United States, and dangerously burns three times that many, leaving permanent and ugly scars.

In proportion to the number of buildings set afire, the property loss is small—about four millions dollars a year. The reason for the loss being proportionately small is, in most cases, the screams of a badly blistered woman bring the neighbors and they bring the fire department to the scene at once. Burns from it have disfigured or destroyed thousands of children and mothers.

Gasoline, the liquid, cannot explode. If set afire it burns quietly. It continually gives off an invisible vapor which makes the air with which it is mixed a high explosive—six times as dangerous as powder, but it is sold to children to wash their hair—ribbons in; sold as freely as candy.

The vapor of gasoline does not rise as other vapors do, to be wafted away, but being slightly heavier than air, it sinks to the floor, spreads, and will be drawn up to any blaze of any stove or gas jet by the current of air created by the stove or light.

KEINER FLIES WITH CYCLONE AND SURVIVES

Fred Keiner has been off the face of the earth. He has no wings. At least none were visible when his case was heard in the court of Mayor E. C. Riegel this morning. He has never been in an airplane, and yet, according to his statement, he has traveled far above the earth's surface in the regions only visited by birds and aviators. He has never heard of the winged-steed Pegasus, and when arrested he was riding a cyclone through etherial regions. When arrested he gave the name of Keiner, and stated that he is a painter by trade, and that his home is in Kemp City, Okla. Mayor Riegel fined him $1 and costs on the charge of intoxication and train-riding, and in default of fine he was sentenced to the city prison. He explained his flights to the mayor by stating that while in his native state a cyclone picked him up and carried him far above the habitations of mankind.

Three other drunks were charged with drunkenness and train-riding, were arraigned before the mayor. Two were fined $1 and costs, one being sentenced to the city prison and the other to the county jail in default of fine. The other was fined $1 and costs, and sentenced to the city prison.

Three other drunks were fined $5 and costs, and one other, $10 and costs. In default of fines, two were sentenced to the county jail and two to the city prison.

SHAUCK'S REAL ESTATE BULLETIN
Over Franklin Bank

If you are looking for a cheap property, close in, look at the dwelling southwest corner Seventh and Columbia streets. This house will be moved to the lot in the rear, remodeled into a modern house, will be a bargain for somebody. If you are looking for a good corner lot close in there will be on this corner a frontage of 66 feet on Seventh and 90 feet on Columbia. Will be for sale at a bargain as soon as house is removed. Remember good lots close in are mighty scarce as well as good properties well located. I realize to get the benefit of an advertisement the facts as stated must always be true.

ODD STORIES GATHERED HERE AND THERE IN OHIO'S MILITARY STATION

The general store in the country village, with its cracker barrel, boxes of dried apples, pin counter, coal oil tank, assortment of woolen socks and mittens and the like has its counterpart at Camp Willis. Alongside one of the main roads through the camp is a small store room of about the proportions of the living room of a five-room city flat, in which has been crowded a sample of most everything the soldier is supposed to need.

The stock includes safety pins, safety razors, sanitary drinking cups, toilet articles, post cards, trousers, ginger snaps, mouth organs, and hundreds of other things, the American Tommy Atkins might choose to spend his pay. The store does a thriving business of course.

Summer vacationists who worry over getting their things into four trunks might learn something of packing from one Cleveland battalion of engineers. The engineers seem to have more organization to carry than any other organization in camp. They have a storehouse full of enough stuff to supply a small hardware store, yet when the time comes to move they will pack it into an incredibly small space and leave nothing behind.

Two wagons are now packed and ready to move—loaded with enough material to supply two or three county surveyors. These wagons are equipped with all sorts and sizes of little equipments in which are stored everything the engineers may need. Among other paraphernalia packed away in these wagons is a complete camera outfit, from camera to developing and printing apparatus, several score burlap bags to be filled with sand, 1,000 feet of rope, drawing instrument and a dozen or two of long handled shovels.

Major F. M. Fanning of Cleveland takes pride in the equipment of his battalion. He believes the engineers will prove a most valuable auxiliary to the national guard in time of trouble.

In the course of a recent tent storm at Camp Willis both tents maintained by the Y. M. C. A. blew down. These tents have been of great convenience for the troops. They are furnished with writing tablets, stationary, games and also comfortable lounging places. The Y. M. C. A. men had a difficulty in securing details to aid in setting up the tents again after the blow.

Commanding officers of the Ohio National Guard, who at first were chagrined to see the troops from other states being rushed to the border while their men were held in camp here find much satisfaction in the report of Major General Trasker H. Bliss of the General staff of the United States Army in regard to National Guard camps on the border and the condition of the men.

In referring to the transfer of the troops General Bliss says: "I think that the movement would have been absolutely perfect if all the organizations had remained at their mobilization camps until completely equipped."

Officers here say they consider it fortunate that the Ohio regiments were not rushed south, but instead were held here to be "completely equipped" as General Bliss implies should have been done in the case of other state troops.

Brig. Gen. William W. McMacken and Brig. Gen. John C. Speaks, commanding officers of the first and second brigades respectively, believe that when the Ohio troops are sent south, if they are sent, will arrive at the border fit for service and ready to perform any duty that may be assigned them.

Other officers point out that the troops here have gone through training in temperatures that have been almost as high as those registered along the Mexican border. They have come through the hardening process lean and in good health.

LADIES' WOOD SAWING CONTEST TONIGHT; PIZARO'S FREE SHOW

5,000 People Attend Nightly. This Odd Character Giving Away Money and Medicine to the Poor and Needy. Evans' Drug Store Selling an enormous amount of California Cactus Juice.

It was estimated that 5,000 people attended Pizarro's free show last night. A larger crowd is expected tonight as many Newark women will enter the wood sawing contest. Pizarro is a novel and sensational advertiser and liberal to the public. Last night he gave $7.75 worth of his medicines for one dollar and will continue to do so until Saturday. No other firm or company ever attempted to give the public so much of their money.

Sister Blendine (Alma Mueller), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Mueller of Cedar street, is quite ill at St. Mary's of the Springs, the home convent, at Shepard, O.
